Recent Antitrust and Competition Appointments

Philippe Rinciaux, an Orrick Paris partner, was recently named editor for the International Bar Association's (IBA) antitrust newsletter. In his new role, Philippe joins a board of 13 lawyers from around the world who comprise the IBA's Antitrust Committee.

In addition, Philippe will serve a second term as a nongovernmental advisor to the International Competition Network (ICN). Established in October 2001 to facilitate procedural and substantive convergence in antitrust enforcement, the ICN is an informal network of competition authorities from around the world. Its membership is composed of 107 competition authorities from 96 jurisdictions worldwide.

Edward "Ted" Henneberry, an Orrick Washington, D.C. partner, was selected to join an American Bar Association (ABA) special advisory team which provided counsel to the Anti-Monopoly Bureau of the Chinese Government's Ministry of Commerce (MOFCOM) on best practices in relation to China's new Anti-Monopoly Law. Ted traveled to Beijing with two other U.S. lawyers and two economists to attend a meeting and private seminar focusing on key issues in merger enforcement and analysis under the Anti-Monopoly Law.

In addition, Ted will serve as a Non-Governmental Advisor (NGA) for the International Competition Network's (ICN) Annual Meeting and consult on ongoing work for the Merger Working Group. He has served as a NGA for ICN since 2006.

David Goldstein, an Orrick San Francisco partner, was recently appointed Vice Chair of the Antitrust Section of the Bar Association of San Francisco. The Section sponsors presentations and panel discussions concerning antitrust and competition counseling, enforcement and litigation.
